

J Collection Hotels and Development is Proud to Announce the New Opening of the Former Marianite Convent, the Holy Angels Bywater Hotel and Residences

NEW ORLEANS, La. (June 1, 2023) – The J Collection recently restored the former site of the Marianites of Holy Cross convent into a new concept, the Holy Angels Bywater Hotel and Residences.

J Collection Hotels and Development partners Joe Jaeger and Arnold Kirshman assembled a creative team for the Holy Angels restoration project with Spartan Builders as the contractor.

The historic location's building accommodations include one- and two-bed guest rooms and residential-style apartments. Additional improvements are a new pool and spa deck, along with a restaurant and bar. The restaurant and bar space will open soon, and the restoration of the existing chapel is underway, ensuring that Holy Angles is a perfect location for special occasions and weddings.

Bywater residents, visitors, and guests looking for residential opportunities, hotel, and short-term rental (STR) options have a unique opportunity with Holy Angels Bywater Hotel and Residences. The project was built with flexibility in mind and can accommodate any of the mentioned usages.

STRs are a popular option for people who need a temporary place to stay as they can be more cost-effective than hotels, with discounted rates depending on the length of stay. The Holy Angels property meets that option in the marketplace, but unlike most STRs, it combines the amenities of a hotel with the accommodations of a traditional STR.

Another attraction to STRs is they provide a more authentic and personalized travel experience. When STR guests stay at Holy Angels, they will have a sense of the Bywater culture and lifestyle, with amenities such as fully equipped kitchens, full-size washers and dryers, and living spaces.

The new hotel and STR additions promise to enhance the historic Bywater neighborhood and New Orleans community. The local communities within the Bywater have an invested interest in Holy Angels and have deeply cherished the landmark site for decades. The J Collection is committed to preserving the Holy Angels' legacy for generations to come.

About Holy Angels Bywater Hotel and Residences

The Holy Angels Bywater Hotel and Residences resides at 3500 St Claude Ave, New Orleans, in one of the city's most culturally vibrant neighborhoods. The hotel's property was home to the Marianites of Holy Cross for 165 years, founded in 1849. The memory of the Marianites' devotion to the property lives on as the J Collection ushers in a new era. For information, please visit www.holyangelshotel.com.
